LESSONS IN CANNING HAVE VERY SUCCESSFUL BEGINNING

Interest Displayed Indicates Attendance Will Rapidly Increase

PLEASED WITH MISS PIPES

The storm yesterday afternoon interfered somewhat with the attendance of the foreign women at the canning classes now being held weekly in the domestic science department of the high school. It was anticipated that the number who would avail themselves of the opportunity would be quite large, and even yet the ladies in charge expect their highest hopes in this respect to be realized, but it is felt that the attendance yesterday afternoon was not a criterion. About the time the women were ready to leave home for the high school building the storm broke and consequently the attendance was greatly reduced. However, the interest displayed so far is very encouraging, and with the continuation of the classes it is expected that a larger number of women who will arrange to attend at least one class per week will greatly increase. Miss Pipes has more than pleased with the excellent manner in which she imparts instruction, and as the season is just now beginning for conserving foodstuffs, the committee in charge hope to see the rooms crowded next Wednesday morning, when the second series of the course begins.

This week the committee canned one bushel of beans, one half bushel of peas, one bushel of beets and some rhubarb, this in addition to the quantities which those in attendance canned for themselves. The ladies committee expect to offer for sale the quantities they have preserved at the local agricultural exhibition which is to be held in Charleroi some time in September. The proceeds of these sales will be devoted to the expense of carrying on the local work.

WILL PUBLISH NAMES OF THOSE WHO FALL

The Adjutant General of the United States Army has outlined the plan which will be followed by the United States with reference to the death of any officers or enlisted men who may be serving in France.

The Adjutant General's office will send individual notices to the next of kin immediately upon the receipt of such notice.

The notice generally will consist of a brief account giving the date, place and cause of death. The details attending the death will be given by the deceased's life organization commander. All deaths occurring among the troops of the expeditionary forces in France will be published as soon as notice thereof has been received.

FINISH HEARING IN STUNGO RADIUM CASE

The hearing before Judge Irwin at Washington in the application for a receiver for the Stungo Radium company of Washington, all of the testimony was concluded on Thursday. The officers of the company, testifying for the defense, said there was no necessity for a receivership, that the affairs of the company were being conducted along the usual lines and that Mr. Stungo was responsible more than any one else for the difficulties. All the testimony now being a matter of record the arguments will have to be made, after which the court will render a decision as to a receivership.

AUTO RIDE WAS UNEXPECTED

Diminutive Passenger Was the Cause of Some Excitement

DAMAGE WAS VERY SMALL

Little Edgar Kline, aged three years, took an involuntary automobile ride this morning on Fifth street, which, while it might have resulted disastrously, caused more excitement than damage.

The car, an Overland touring, was standing in front of Aug. Mahieu's on Fifth street at the time, the owner, Raymond Charles, having gone into the store on business. He had the Kline boy with him as a passenger, and had left him in the car while he was in tending to an errand in Mahieu's. The boy, left alone, began to turn the steering wheel, when suddenly the machine released and started down Fifth street. Charles saw the car move and attempted to reach it before it got under headway. He tripped as he came out of the store but he did succeed in getting on the running board, but before he got the car under control it crossed to the opposite side of the street and crashed into the awning in front of Carson's grocery store, bearing it from its fastenings and doing considerable damage to it. Some articles on display in front of the store were also spilled, and some boxes broken. One of the front fenders of the car was slightly dinged. Outside of this, there was no material damage.

The "runoff" caused a little excitement, but after disengaging the car from the awning it was driven from the pavement and business resumed its usual rounds.

LIST FOR CRIMINAL COURT WILL BE LIGHT

From present indications there will be a very light list of cases at the August term of the Washington county criminal court. The grand jury will be convened the second Monday of August, and the district attorney's office is getting the cases in shape for presentation. There are only about 100 cases listed so far, but it is expected that others will come in during the next two weeks. The trial of cases will begin Monday, or on the 30th. The bar vacation ends the second Monday of August, but court this year has been just about as busy as though there had been no vacation. There have been pleadings every Monday, and juvenile court and other hearings between times.

AMERICAN FLAG SHOULD BE PLACED ON THE RIGHT

The Stars and Stripes, when grouped with emblems of other countries should be placed in the honor position at the right of a stand of flags. It is contended by men identified prominently with naval and military affairs in Pittsburgh. Since this country became engaged in war the question of what position the American flag should be placed with allied flags has caused much comment and argument, some contending the Stars and Stripes should be in the center, to be more conspicuous.

According to Col. Griffith, recruiting officer of the United States Army, and Lt. Commander Newton Mansfield, in charge of the Navy recruiting station in Pittsburgh, there is no law or regulation regarding the placement of the American flag when arranged with other flags, but they said it had always been the custom to give the Stars and Stripes the honor position at the right. Commander Mansfield said that when a number of flags are placed over an arch it is customary to place the American flag in the center, where it stands higher than the other flags.

Col. Griffith said that when it is the wish to extend a compliment to another country or a foreign visitor the flag of the latter's country is placed in the honor position as an act of courtesy.

NEW MAN AT EDITORIAL HELM OF THE SENTINEL

George F. Scott, from Meadville, Pa., has taken a position as editorial and news writer on the California Sentinel, assuming his new duties last week. Mr. Scott was formerly managing editor of the Meadville Daily Messenger, and comes highly recommended to his new position. The fraternity of the valley extends a welcome to the new editor, and trust his stay here will be both pleasant and profitable.

SLIGHT CHANGES MADE IN STATE HIGHWAYS

Two important highways in Washington county are affected by the provisions of a bill signed a few days ago by Governor Brumbaugh. State Highway routes 109 and 263, extending from Washington to Waynesburg and from Greensburg to Waynesburg respectively are changed.

At present State Highway route 268 enters Washington county over State Highway route 118 to Charleroi thence extends by way of Allentown, California, West Brownsville, Millsboro, Clarksville and Jefferson into Waynesburg, Greene county. This route, as changed, covers the same itinerary through Washington county, but in Greene county it extends to a point near Rices Landing borough to Cross Roads, near Dry Tavern, thence, by way of Stockdale to Jefferson and on to Waynesburg.

Slight changes are also made on the route between Washington and Waynesburg, giving the State Highway department the options of several routes after passing the Washington county line.

CERTIFICATES ARE ISSUED TO TEACHERS

The examinations for provisional and professional certificates in Washington county being over, and all manuscripts passed on by Superintendent L. R. Crumrine and his assistants, H. S. Kuder and C. R. Daubenspeck, the report of the examinations are submitted as follows, the place of examination being given, first, then the number examined and the number successful.

Washington	24	18
Finleyville	17	13
California	21	10
Madway	30	16
Canonsburg	84	74
Berkeleyville	30	25
Claysville	45	35
Total	251	192

In the examination for professional certificates held in Washington 55 applicants were examined, 42 being successful. The 13 applicants who failed were granted provisional certificates.

These 13 added to the two totals above, make respectively 264 and 205. The number successful in securing provisional certificates is between 77 and 78 per cent of those who took the examination. The number examined for provisional certificates this year was 60 less than in 1916. In that year 52 were examined for professional certificates.

I wish to announce that I will be a candidate for the nomination to the Office of Justice of the Peace at the Primaries on September 19, subject to the Rules of the Republican party. Any support that is given me will be appreciated.

EXEMPTION BOARD HAS NOT YET RECEIVED MASTER LISTS

COMPANY A CAMP WAS VISITED BY COL. COULTER

Col. Richard Coulter of Greensburg, commander of the Tenth Regiment, N. G. P., visited at the camp of Company A, in Monongahela, on Wednesday. The Colonel motored over from his home and with Capt. Hartland as his guest from Monongahela, visited at the camp of Company H, in Washington. On the return trip the camp of Company A was inspected. The Colonel expressed himself as being highly pleased as to the condition of the various Companies he has visited, all of which are at war strength. He gave no intimation as to when the regiment would be sent south for additional training.

Work at Standstill Until Board Has More Definite Information

PAPERS ARE EXPECTED TODAY

While state authorities at Harrisburg are reported to have received the master lists for the selective draft, they had not been received by the various boards of Washington county up until noon today. Just when they will arrive is a matter of conjecture, although it is confidently hoped they will be on hand by Saturday morning.

In the meantime the exemption board of the fifth district, as well as all others in the county, continue to "mark time" until these lists are on hand. Once they are received the actual work of examination and selection of men for the district quota will begin. It is presumed of course that much of the examination of drafted men will take place in Donora, but it is also a possibility that physicians may be delegated to do this work in Monongahela and Charleroi. Facilities at Donora would not permit of the examination of such a large number of men as will be called daily, and for this reason the work may be divided in order to facilitate matters.

Some question has arisen as to the large quota assigned to the fifth district and to Washington county. Whether the quotas are based on the registration of the population has not been made public, but 438 men are taken from this section the burden will have to fall on American citizens. It is known that the alien population here is large and the number of those registered who are of foreign birth and are aliens will amount to at least 40 per cent of these registered. This being the case it will leave the remainder, or 60 per cent to assume a burden that should be borne by the entire number registered.

It is further intimated that many men of foreign births who are presumably aliens, have taken out their first and in some cases their second papers, but if they claim exemption because of being aliens there would be a hard time to prove the statement otherwise.

However, the exemption board have no option but to pass 438 men for the fifth district, which they must obtain from the men registered, and which they will proceed to do just as soon as the necessary papers arrive.

In response to a communication from Frank P. HELPING THE FARMER

The services being rendered by those business and professional men from the county seat, who have volunteered to go out on to farms in the vicinity of their town, to assist the farmer in harvesting crops, is to be commended. The farmer has been urged to do his "bit" by planting greater areas and larger crops, which he has done to a large extent, but with many crops ready for harvest, and others rapidly maturing, it has been a serious matter with him as to what he could do to save the immense amounts of foodstuffs which are being raised.

In ordinary times the farmer is hard put to obtain the necessary amount of labor to run his farm with any degree of satisfaction, and unless he had members of his own family available for the numerous tasks which are always presenting themselves, he was under a handicap when his crops were unusually large. This has caused a restriction of crops, particularly in this section of Pennsylvania, and many fertile fields which might have otherwise been producing their share of the foodstuffs for the community have been non-productive.

This year many of these fields were planted, but unless the farmer is given that assistance which his demands make necessary, he is apt to lose a considerable quantity of his crops. It is to preserve and prevent against waste that the Washington business and professional men have volunteered, an action that might be followed with profit by other communities.

GRIM HUMOR

"Much surprise is expressed at the Kaiser's humor in christening his battle lines the Siegfried and Wotan. It is distinctly remembered that he used to entertain a mighty poor opinion of R. Wagner and his music. He did not take Mark Twain's cheerful view of it. Twain said it wasn't as bad as it sounded."—New York Sun.

Of course the Sun does not mean to convey the impression that Wotan and Siegfried originated in the brain of Richard Wagner of music-drama fame, but the hurried and uniformed reader might readily be led to suppose so. The Kaiser may still have a poor opinion of Wagner and may have had no thought of that musician's works when he chose the names of a German god and a German legendary hero known for many centuries before Wagner's day.

It must be said that these names are not inappropriate for modern German battle lines, on and about which so much "frightfulness" has been committed, particularly the time of the terrible Wotan who admitted nobody to his heaven of Valhalla but men who had been slain in battle and the joys of whose elysium consisted in eating, drinking (out of the skulls of slain enemies) and fighting. When the gods of Valhalla laid out each other to pieces they had the power of making themselves whole again and thus their lovely pastime was eternal. We should say that the grim humor of these names consists in the fact that while the Kaiser piously prays to the Christian God he is by his war methods really invoking the ancient demon-gods of Germany.

CONSERVING FOOD

The season for food conservation and food preservation is here, but with prices at such a high altitude the housewife will be apt to debate for some time before going into market to purchase those commodities which are urged to take care of. Family that has a garden, however, at the beginning of the campaign will have its fruit in the winter months, when the crops which will have been summer crops will be available for use. The passage of the bill by Congress will do little to alleviate a condition which at present time makes it somewhat difficult for thousands of families to obtain any considerable quantities of vegetables which can be taken care of by either canning or drying. With anything like a reasonable price the quantities of foodstuffs which will be preserved this year will be away beyond the average.

INVESTING MONEY.

When "Safety First" and Not Large Returns Is the Object.

"A conservative policy would prompt all buyers of securities to invest at least a portion of their capital in government issues or some other form of sound bonds," says Leslie's Weekly.

"Many investors have a preference exclusively for stocks because the latter may render a higher yield or may fluctuate more widely, thus offering larger chances for speculative profit. Dividend paying shares of the season sort are not to be belittled, and they will perhaps always form the major portion of the average investor's purchases. There is reasonable safety in them.

But former cornerstones of fortune are found in the better class bonds. These are not necessarily put edged, but they are well secured. In times of prosperity the issuing corporations have no difficulty in meeting interest charges. In times of depression dividends on stocks may be suspended, but the enterprise must pay interest on its bonds or submit to foreclosure. And in such event the bondholder rarely suffers loss. Their high degree of safety and safety commands good prices. An indispensable part of any well established estate."

ECONOMY IN FOOD.

Getting the Best Results Out of a Forequarter of Lamb.

Are you aware of how much you can get from a forequarter of lamb? If it is cut correctly it should give a rack of lamb (French chops) and a shoulder. Besides the neck and the breast, which may be boiled.

From these last parts one can make croquettes, a meat loaf, minced lamb on toast and salad, besides many other cooked meat dishes. The shoulder can be filled and roasted, boiled with caper sauce or pot roasted.

The rack, which is made up of dainty French chops, is the choicest part of the entire lamb, and if the butcher cuts the forequarter correctly there will be twelve delicious chops. These may be cut as needed or roasted in one piece.

To cut the forequarter correctly remove the shoulder and take out all the bone; cut off the neck and breast, then remove the chine and the chops. Don't throw away the bones and trimmings. Boil and strain them, then set aside to cool and remove the fat, which then can be used for deep fat frying.—Washington Star.

A Forgotten Monument.

A Washington monument that was never erected occupied the attention of the citizens of New York in 1847. It was to tower so far above any other structure that it might be seen many miles out at sea. Several thousand dollars were actually raised and the cornerstone was laid with ceremony in Hamilton square, which covered the blocks now contained between Third and Fifth avenues. Sixty-sixth and Sixty-ninth streets. This was before Central park had been outlined. Hamilton square was a portion of the old common lands of the city. It is not known what became of the Washington monument cornerstone. The monument association gradually ceased to exist. The $1,000,000 monument was forgotten, and when the ground once known as Hamilton square was cut up and the streets run through no record remained as to what was done with the cornerstone and its leaden box filled with memorials of the city in 1847.—Exchange.

Pigeons Spread Disease.

"Pigeons spread disease when flying at large," says a writer in Farm and Fireside. "They are very promiscuous in their visits and carry disease germs from infected places on their feet. Not only do they spread poultry diseases, but any live stock or other domestic disease. Many a mysterious outbreak might be traced to this source. Flocks of pigeons are a very picturesque feature of the landscape, but are entirely out of place in our closely settled modern communities. They may carry human disease germs as well as any others."

Probably Not.

An English paper ascribes the use of "some" in such expressions as "somebody" or "somehow" to Horace Walpole. In a letter dated July 7, 1782, it says, Walpole wrote, "Mr. William Pitt. Yes, he is to be secretary of state at twenty-two—that is some glory." But is "that is some glory" or all fours with "he is some statesman"? Would Walpole have used the latter phrase?—Outlook.

Work is a guardian angel. Work turns the wilderness into a garden. Work does sometimes what even love cannot do—roots a man firmly in his place in the world.

THE MILITARY AVIATOR.

He Must Be a Soldier, a Mechanic and Absolutely Fearless.

It takes nine months to make a military aviator. The profession makes the severest possible demand upon the resources of the individual. It requires a combination of courage, of nerve, of skill, of expert dexterity, of nerve to do the work of an aviator in war, and to be able to land safely and hardy to be characterized as short of self-entire.

The military aviator must be a soldier, a mechanic and a daredevil. Besides, sailing his craft and fighting his enemies, he must be mathematician enough to make his observations, artist enough to take photographs, telegrapher enough to operate his wireless, navigator enough to pick his way by means of map and compass over unfamiliar landscapes and resourceful enough to contend with fog, with cloud and with the thousand and one contingencies which the hazards of the air involve. Furthermore, his most difficult technical duties must be performed while that element of the death constant with which he always rides is augmented by the noisy rattle of aerial machine guns, and above him and the yarp of bursting anti-aircraft shells which pursue him from below. No man with the effects of disipation vibrating his blood and unsettling his nerves can be trusted with the issues of the air.—Peter Clark Macfarlane in Ogden's Weekly.

LIVING IN JAPAN.

Hard Work For the Middle Classes to Make Both Ends Meet.

Dr. Takata, Japanese minister of education, has recently published a book concerning economic conditions in Japan. The pinch comes harder upon the middle classes than upon the lower classes since the former must not only live, but must keep up a respectable appearance on salaries no greater than those that men who work at trades receive.

For example, according to Dr. Takata, a primary school teacher earns $13.50 a month, but his lowest budget for a family of four reaches $17.23. His wife must do work at home to earn the deficit. A magazine editor and writer who has a wife, two children and a maid spends $22.75 monthly on household sundries. His earnings are irregular, but always below his expenses. He has been compelled to borrow money from his wife's relatives, and her trousseau is not unknown to the pawnshops.

The learned author states that two thirds of the Tokyo doctors earn no more than $10 a month. Obviously the professional classes of Japan are in the grip of conditions that are far from enviable.

Washington Monument.

The cornerstone of the Washington monument was laid on its fine site, which overlooks Washington, Georgetown, Arlington and Mount Vernon, by President Polk July 4, 1848. Its marble shaft rises in all the dignity of unadorned simplicity to the height of 555 feet. The base of the shaft is fifty-five feet square, and it gradually tapers until at the 500 foot point it has diminished to less than thirty-five feet. This monument is said to contain 18,000 blocks of marble, each two feet thick. They were lifted on an elevator run by steam, suspended in an inner framework of iron, which was built up at intervals, thirty or forty feet at a time, in advance of the surrounding masonry. The aluminum capstone, placed high, was set in position Dec. 6, 1884, thirty-six years and a half after the cornerstone was laid.

Nature Teaches Inventors.

"We get our hints from nature," the inventor said. "Take, for instance, the hollow pillar, which is stronger than the solid one. The wheat straw showed us the superior strength of the hollow pillar. Solid, the wheat straw would be too heavy to support its head of grain. Where did man get his idea for carriage springs? From the hocks of the horse, which, like the springs derived from them, are made from steel plates. Scissors are got from the jaws of the tortoise which are nature's scissors. The human eye is a masterpiece in its construction, and carries them in its mouth, as it were, the bipropellers, whose wheels are adzes of the best design, the power from the left jaw, the right jaw, and from the woodrucker."

Homespun Philosophy.

Don't wear out shoe leather seeking trouble, for it's all time bending your back and wondering why you live so far. The fields will answer the aching prayer for its daily bread if it's in your power to handle the hoe.

Some folks ask neither pretty nor riches, but only middling ground and somebody to till it for 'em.—Atlanta Constitution.

"No waste, now, ma; no waste. We all gotta help."
"Ten attend to your own business," snapped ma with some acerbity. "The only things I throw away are tea leaves and eggshells."—Kansas City Journal.

Meager Achievement.

"Methuselah was the oldest man."
"Yes," replied Mr. Groucher. "But so far as I've been able to find out he was one of those men who devote their time strictly to growing old and never attempt anything else."—Washington Star.

CHARLEROI'S OLD FOLKS TAKE NEW LEASE OF LIFE

THEY ALL LOOK INTO THE FUTURE WITH CONFIDENCE

This is the situation of hundreds of elderly men and women that have had their youth and health restored in such a short time. Aged men and women who have been steadily declining to the regret and dismay of fond relatives and friends are now hale and hearty, active both mentally and physically. Life to them has renewed the joys and pleasant anticipations of youth, where before it meant the usual steady progress down hill, with the decline and useless burden to themselves and everybody around. How they all dread this and how unnecessary it is.

A lively "old timer" said to our reporter, "I am now seventy years of age and my wife sixty-five and we both feel that any remedy that will truly build up the strength and increase the power of endurance of people of our age should be down to every nervous run down man, woman and child. Phosphated Iron did the work for both of us and we made up our minds to let all of our friends know about it. Take it from us we certainly have spread the gospel of Phosphated Iron through this neighborhood, so much so that hardly a day goes by without some of our friends stopping to thank us for putting them wise to such a splendid preparation."

Our city is full of just such experiences. There are thousands of men and women in all walks of life who need a strength and blood building nerve tonic, but do not know what to take. For this there is nothing like good old Iron and Phosphates in the right combination "Phosphated Iron" to give increased strength, snap, vigor and staying power together with freedom from all nerve troubles. It enriches the blood, feeds starved nerves, brings a full healthy color to the cheeks, is an unfailing source of renewed vitality, endurance and power for men and women who burn up their nervous energies too rapidly in this day of strenuous business and social competition.

Iron and Phosphates have been known to Doctors for years as being absolutely necessary to enable your blood to change food to healthy, strong, live nourishment and make nerves like Iron. Phosphated Iron will do this for you. Try it today and be a "live one" again. "Come back" it can be done, the proof is everywhere around you.

Special Notice—To insure physicians and their patients getting the genuine Phosphated Iron we put up in capsules only, so do not allow dealers to substitute any pills or tablets. For sale by Hennings drug store and leading druggists everywhere.

Nerv-Worth "Co.—Nerv-Worth proved its merits. Our child, Baby William, now four months old, was troubled with nervousness. Cried at nights for three months.

We tried small doses of Nerv-Worth and results were wonderful. Our baby is now bright and cheerful at all times. We cannot say too much for this wonderful medicine.

SANDY PLAINS FAIR TO BE HELD IN AUGUST

B. Frank Emery of Millsboro, secretary of the Sandy Plains Fair association, was a Charleroi visitor on Thursday in the interest of this annual exhibition, which is so well known throughout all this section of Pennsylvania. Mr. Emery announces that the dates selected for this year's exhibition are August 14, 15 and 16, and he is hoping for fair weather for those particular days. Mr. Emery is also a member of the exemption board of the fourth district, and is anxiously waiting to get to work in selecting the men from that section for the selective draft. The headquarters of the board are at Ellsworth, where all sittings will be made and where many of the men will be examined. On his way in from Ellsworth yesterday afternoon, Mr. Emery overtook a party of Charleroi ladies out Maple Creek who were in danger from a ducking from the approaching storm. He invited the entire party to get into his car and brought them to town without any discomfort.

Mrs. M. T. Crumley, accompanied by her mother, Mrs. Ella Crumley, her sister, Miss Sadie Chalfant, and uncle, James Hill, of Brownsville, returned Wednesday evening from Allentown, where they had been on a visit to Alexander Chalfant, a sergeant in the Bucknell hospital unit, of the U. S. Army Ambulance Corps. They report a very pleasant trip, but that Allentown is crowded by hundreds of visitors, who come there from all parts of the United States to visit relatives.

Allentown is one of the concentration camps for the ambulance corps of the United States Army, the camp being pitched on the State fair grounds, where many buildings have been erected for the comfort and convenience of the men who compose the various units. This place is to be one of the permanent cantonments for the ambulance corps, and when the present contingent has received its training, others will come to take their places. Even now, new units are coming in almost daily, and will continue to do so for many months to come.

ANOTHER BIG PACKET TO ENTER PITTSBURGH TRADE

Pittsburgh interests are reported to have purchased the big packet Harriet Lane, at Charlestown, W. POWER CONFERRED TO SAVE FOODSTUFFS

Pennsylvania state authorities have power to seize carloads of foodstuffs of any kind when they are liable to spoil and there is need for them for the benefit of the public, under the terms of the Sproul bureau of marks bill, approved by Gov. Brumbaugh last week. The powers conferred by the bill are the broadest ever given in a state government agency in the matter of food and can be invoked to break a corner.

MYSTERIOUS SHOT FROM PASSENGER TRAIN

Mrs. Amanda Blower, of Starkeville, reports that one morning early last week, as she stepped out of the door of her house, along the Pennsylvania Railroad, a shot was fired from the baggage car of a passing train, the bullet lodging in a tree in the yard. It missed her only by a few feet. No explanation of the shot has been received.

BOX CARS FOR SMALL OPERATORS ON B. & O.

Nearly 500 coal operators on the Connellsville division of the B. & O. railroad, who load from team tracks, will be put out of business by an order effective on Thursday, providing that, until further notice, none but box cars will be placed for team track loading by the Baltimore and Ohio railroad. This means that only operators with supplies will be supplied with open cars. Coal cannot be loaded in box cars, it is maintained, at $3 a ton, the price fixed by agreement between the government and the large operators and adopted by the small ones.

Whether any other railroad will try to enforce a similar order remains to be seen, but it is presumed that if the B. & O. can enforce this provision other lines will adopt similar measures. The Pennsylvania, for a number of months, has been trying to get away from the duty of furnishing cars to track loaders, but if the B. & O. can enforce the box car orders, it need not be surprising if the Pennsylvania would follow suit.

PITTSBURGH STEEL TO PLAY MONONGAHELA

This game will count in the tri-town series of games now Pittsburgh Steel and Monongahela.

MINED 800,000 TONS OF COAL WITHOUT ACCIDENT

Eh Leonard, of West Brownsville, finished taking the coal out of the Kinder-Leonard mine, in that borough on Monday. Operations were begun on an 80-acre tract of Pittsburgh vein of coal, south of West Brownsville Junction, June 28, 1909. Since then approximately 800,000 tons of coal have been taken out of the mine without a single fatal accident.

GARDEN COLUMN

By National Emergency Food Garden Commission

DRYING PEAS.

In the drying of fruits and vegetables fresh stock should be used if possible because of the fact that the drying process is not merely withering of the material, says today's bulletin from the National Emergency Food Garden Commission, which is co-operating with the Mail in its nationwide campaign for saving the food products of the country.

Garden Peas should be taken when they are at the right size for table use. They should be shelled as soon as possible after picking, blanched for three to five minutes in boiling water and then dipped for an instant into cold water. Remove surface moisture and spread on drying trays in single layers. When cooked, peas dried in this manner resemble the fresh vegetable very closely.

For soups and puree, peas which are too mature for table use may be blanched ten minutes, cold-dipped an instant and dried whole, or after blanching and cold-dipping they may be passed thru a meat grinder and the pulp spread in thin layers on the drying screen. When dry, the whole mass may be rubbed to a powder or stored in the form of flakes which break up on cooking.

In the case of the very young and tender sugar peas the whole pod may be used. Wash the fresh material, cut in 1-4 inch pieces, blanch for six minutes, cold-dip and spread in thin layers on trays the same as for the whole peas.

After drying, the whole material should be conditioned by pouring from one container to another every day for three or four days so as to have a uniform content of moisture. If too moist, return to drier till cured.

The dried product should be stored in moisture-proof boxes or bags in cool, dry place free from insects and vermin, and for convenience the containers should be labeled.

By sending a two cent stamp to the commission at 210 Maryland Bldg., Washington, D. C. readers of this paper will receive a drying manual free of charge.
